JUNIOR BOARDING NEWS: Ms Naylor reports:

This week, the boarders enjoyed a spectacular firework display, courtesy of Dr Smith and Mr Cunningham. We had a great time, wrapped up warm, watching the amazing display and bonfire. Of course, there was the added bonus of hot chocolate and doughnuts!

This weekend, we have been invited to a tea ceremony at Rikkyo Japanese school, and are having a ski lesson on Sunday.

Fifth & Sixth Form Quiz Night: Alicia Collyear and Tilly Smith report:

On Tuesday November 3, the fifth form joined the sixth form for a meal and quiz. It was a fantastic bonding session that we all thoroughly enjoyed. Dr Smith's quiz really made the night good fun and not to mention a little challenging! However we all worked through and there were some good results leaving 'The Intangibles' winners on the night. The food arrived in good time and was very yummy, even if it left us feeling extremely full!

Sixth Form News: Mrs Picken reports:

Pub quiz - Tuesday night saw the annual Pub quiz hosted by the L6th. This year was as competitive and tense as ever. Team spirit was high and devious tactics were employed to try and mislead other teams. The staff team was probably the most unruly but in the end the girls fought back and The Intangibles were the triumphant winners! The girls had great fun, the L6th were wonderful hosts and it was fantastic to see over 40 5th form girls join for the event. Many thanks to Dr Smith for his fine quizmaster role and everyone who helped produce and run the quiz.

Remember, remember the 5th of November.....

Well we certainly like to at Prior's Field, and November would not be complete without our yearly Fire work display. The Maintenance team were glad to have a reason to light a huge bonfire with all the autumn leaves and old furniture. Whilst drinking hot chocolate and enjoying doughnuts we were treated to the most impressive firework display to date. We are very grateful to Dr Smith, Mr Cunningham, Mr Swansborough and Mr Hughes for all their work in making the evening so enjoyable.

Congratulations to Meghan Waterhouse and Becky Merrick Wilson on passing their driving tests this week.
